

New lift station is now operational

Good news! The Bloomington lift station is now fully functional. In the coming weeks, crews will decommission the existing lift station located at American Boulevard and Normandale Boulevard. Exterior improvements of the new lift station will continue through late September.

Restoration activities underway

Crews continue clean-up activities, site restoration and landscaping at the new lift station site, the exiting lift station area and along boulevards impacted by construction.

Restoration activities are expected to be completed by late September.
