Background

- Equity as a value and regional goal in Imagine 2050
- Previous Tribal Consultation and engagement with American Indian organizations
- Recognition of need for co-creation and community leadership

Timeline of Recommendation Development

Why Commitments

- Acknowledgements have educational value for non-American Indian people. And they must be followed with action.
 - Land acknowledgements too often become empty words.
- Commitments reflect specific actions tailored to the Met Council's organization as well as areas of authority, responsibility, and influence.
- Commitments are intended to spur work that will take time to implement and should be reflected on and updated regularly.

Recommendations on Organizational Leadership

Overarching Policy and Operational Commitments

The Met Council will adopt an overarching Tribal relations policy that includes a recognition of history and impact, a commitment to staffing and resources to adequately partner with tribes and American Indian communities, a commitment to organizational education, a current Tribal consultation and American Indian community engagement policy, and support for organizational change to implement the commitments throughout the region.

Acknowledgement

1. As a responsible government agency, the Council will lead in publicly recognizing the genocide and displacement that American Indian communities survived and continue to endure.
 - a. The Advisory Council is drafting a Land, Water, and People Acknowledgement Statement for the Met Council and to include in Imagine 2050.
 - b. The Advisory Council encourages the Met Council to understand the value of a statement is to increase recognition of the seven-county region as Dakota land and promote action.

Staffing and Resources

1. The Council will work to increase American Indian staff representation across all divisions and specifically hire and support Tribal Liaison(s) to work with Tribal nations and American Indian partners in new and meaningful relationships.
2. The Council will work in partnership with American Indian organizations and leaders to develop regional tools, resources, and guidelines to mitigate the volume of individual requests received by American Indian organizations. Topics include, but are not limited to, restoring or developing indigenous place names and land management practices.
3. The Council will create a reparative action fund to finance mitigation measures for known and acknowledged past harms to the environment, to Indigenous communities, to Black communities, and communities of color unjustly harmed by past local or Council actions.

Organizational Education

1. The Council will develop a required internal Tribal relations training program and expectations and support for staff to engage in ongoing learning and action.
2. The Council will work with partners to explore development of a regional Tribal Relations training course that would be available to local government staff and regional leaders.

Tribal Consultation and Engagement

1. The Council will update its Tribal consultation policy to require robust and proactive engagement with Tribal governments and relevant community organizations, following best practices and international rights for indigenous peoples. The policy will be easily accessible, include expectations for engagement beyond consultation, and establish guidance for conflict resolution.
 - a. In support of consultation and proactive engagement, the Council will provide funding for Tribes to conduct their own site analysis in advance of and throughout large construction projects.
2. The Council will consider convening a permanent tribal relations body to support relationship building within transportation and transit projects and operations to ensure American Indian community knowledge and perspectives inform decisions and practices.

Organizational Change

1. The Council will consider formalizing American Indian representation on the Council itself as well as through advisory councils and committees.
2. In partnership with the Governor's office, the Council will consider requesting the addition of new district seats to represent the American Indian peoples of the region.
3. The Council will establish a permanent American Indian Advisory Council to continue to guide Council activities and hold the Council accountable to its commitments. The Council will continue to support the Advisory Council in its current form on an interim-basis to develop an implementation strategy for commitments adopted as part of Imagine 2050.

4. The Council will work to restructure its relationship with urban American Indian organizations by establishing formal relationships (i.e., Memorandum of Understanding, or other structure) to provide ongoing engagement, resources, and support for the American Indian communities in the region as it relates to the Council's work.
5. The Council will update its real estate policy for the disposition of Council-owned land to prioritize partnership with and the needs of Tribal nations and American Indian communities. If opportunities to return land arise, the four Dakota tribes of Minnesota must be involved and consulted.

Recommendations for Policy Commitments

Regional Parks and Trails Policy Commitments

1. The Council will develop a cultural landscape designation and related policies grounded in Tribal sovereignty and recognition of Dakota homelands and sacred sites.
2. The Council will support waived fees for entry, activities, and events for the American Indian communities and facilitate conversations with implementing agencies to that end.
3. The Council will work with partners to do a historical and cultural inventory of the regional parks and trails system, including surveying the location, name, and history of the parks as well as cross-referencing locations with inventories of possible burial mounds.
4. The Council will develop a training program for staff from parks implementing agencies about indigenous land management practices.

5. The Council will assess the regional parks Equity Grant Program to encourage pilot programs that develop harvesting practices and policies.
6. The Council will convene conversations with American Indian partners and implementing agencies to develop policies and processes to ensure harvesting is respectful and meets community needs.
7. The Council will partner with American Indian organizations and Tribes to lead an inventory of harvestable plants in regional parks to increase understanding of existing resources and open conversations with implementing agencies.

Water Policy Commitments

1. The Council will analyze and reduce operational effects of environmental services infrastructure on sacred sites.
 - a. In preparation for the opening of the Wakan Tipi Center in summer 2025, the Council will proactively work alongside Wakan Tipi Awanyankapi to prioritize innovative solutions to minimize the operational impact and relocate the wastewater receiving station. The Met Council will ensure that Wakan Tipi is consulted as a priority during construction planning for any projects near the site.
2. The Council will advocate for a new political imagination of how water policy and standards are created and implemented that integrates a framework based on water as a relative.
 - a. The Council will take a leadership role in coordinating between Tribal staff and relevant state agencies' staff including Tribal Liaisons.
3. The Council will explore ways to include Tribes and American Indian organizations in funding opportunities while removing barriers to providing regional sewer service to Tribes, when requested.

Transportation Policy Commitments

1. The Council will engage the American Indian communities and organizations early in station remodels, especially for stations in areas with large American Indian populations.
2. The Council will continue using public art and explore using American Indian languages to build a sense of place at new or remodeled stations.
3. The Council will continue to partner with American Indian organizations including Metropolitan Urban Indian Directors and Saint Paul Indians in Action and to work together on safety issues in and around Metro Transit facilities.
4. The Council will provide guidance to cities and counties around best practices – based on free, prior, and informed consent - for Tribal engagement in transportation projects.
 - a. The Council will collaborate with partners involved in the Riverview Corridor project to reflect on the process and identify opportunities to document the full, equal, and effective participation from Tribal nations, with the intention of using any lessons learned in future projects.
5. The Council will identify how the transportation system can better support and serve Dakota, Ojibwe, and Ho-Chunk cultural resources and implement those actions.

Housing Policy Commitments

1. The Council will update its housing voucher programs and selection process to begin reconciling the historic racism and relocation that creates unsheltered American Indian people on their homelands. The distinct political status of American Indian people sets the basis for the Council's governmental responsibility to act on the disproportionate number of unsheltered American Indians.
 - a. The Council will update its Administrative Plan in preparation for opening the Housing Choice Voucher waiting list in 2025 to set aside a percentage of waiting list placements for households that identify as American Indian. The Council will engage with the American Indian community to determine to appropriate set-aside percentage. The Council will share the process and outcomes of this policy change with other HRAs in the region.
2. The Council will partner with American Indian community organizations to work on targeting new vouchers coming through programs like Bring It Home.
3. The Council will work through its role on the Fair Housing Implementation Council and the Continuums of Care to identify funding opportunities for which American Indian community organizations could apply in future Requests for Proposals.

4. The Council will engage with the American Indian households receiving Metro HRA vouchers on wealth building strategies and future potential homeownership programs.
5. The Council will identify ways to increase investment in American Indian organizations and projects by reducing barriers to accessing grants and funding with a priority for American Indian organizations providing supportive services for residents or developing deeply affordable housing.
6. The Council will explore the inclusion of fair housing guidance specific to Tribal citizens for communities and development partners in the region, as part of housing policy resources for communities seeking to meet fair housing policy requirements for Livable Communities Act grants.
7. The Council will partner with American Indian organizations to explore develop relevant technical assistance on homeownership programs for American Indian people to increase understanding of the programs in the region's housing sector.

Next Steps

- Move from the vision expressed in these recommendations to actions that create sustainable and lasting change.
- Work within appropriate organizational work groups, committees, and Council bodies to identify policy and implementation actions.
- Build accountability structures: identify reporting process on progress and barriers to actions in defined priorities.
- Develop work plan for continued engagement with the American Indian Advisory Council.
