Site work continues through January

Crews continue site work at the Coon Rapids lift station in preparation for the temporary wastewater conveyance pipe installation. Installation is expected to occur in February.

Temporary wastewater conveyance is used during lift station construction to divert the wastewater while crews work.