

Work at the Hopkins lift station is mostly complete

It's been 4 months since our last update, so we wanted to connect with you again.

We're happy to announce the lift station has been operating smoothly and only a few housekeeping tasks remain before the project will be completed. We do not expect any remaining work to impact traffic.

We appreciate everyone's patience and understanding during this long and important project. If you have any questions, please connect with us at info@MCESHopkins.com
